

Hunter Earns Consumers Digest 'Best Buy' Ratings in All Three Irrigation Categories Judged by Magazine

Hunter Industries has received three 'Best Buy' ratings from Consumers Digest Magazine following a comparison of irrigation sprinklers, controllers and rain sensors by the monthly publication.

Hunter was the only irrigation manufacturer to win 'Best Buy' ratings in all three product categories. According to the publication, the Consumers Digest 'Best Buy' rating is awarded to fewer than three percent of competing models in any given product category.

Earning a 'Best Buy' rating by the consumer publication were Hunter's PGJ rotary sprinkler, its Pro-C Controller, and the Hunter Mini-Weather Station.

"We are gratified to be recognized by Consumers Digest magazine for the outstanding value these Hunter products deliver," said Jeff Carowitz, Vice President of Marketing for Hunter Industries.

Full details of the Consumers Digest comparison can be found in the magazine's April 2006 issue.
